

SEREGO ALIGHIERI

EASTER AT POSSESSIONI SEREGO ALIGHIERI IN VALPOLICELLA

Treat yourself to a relaxing, peaceful stay at Possessioni di Serego Alighieri, sited in the gentle hills of Valpolicella, just a few kilometres outside Verona. Belonging to descendants of poet Dante since 1353, the estate boasts a Foresteria, or guest house, surrounded by vineyards and olive groves, which has now been turned into eight apartments decorated in traditional up-market country house style.

The fine wines produced here, including the world famous Vaio Armaron Amarone mean that visits can be made to the historic cellars with their fragrant cherry wood barrels and to the attractive drying loft for the grape appassimento process (drying of the grapes). Visits to the next-door Masi cellars are also possible during your stay. Masi is a leader in the production of Amarone and collaborates with the Counts Serego Alighieri in the production and distribution of its wines.

The experience is completed with a visit to Masi Tenuta Canova estate on Lake Garda, just outside Lazise, where Masi welcomes wine lovers and foodies alike. Food at the Wine Bar is cooked with inspiration from local tradition and seasonal produce. The best Masi wines are offered for the traditional Easter meal and on Easter Monday.
